FINANCIER WILL APPEAR BEFORE INSURANCE QUIZ

Must Answer Charge Of Selling Out Company

Claim He And Associates Mad $1,000,000 Profit

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Rep. Adolph J. Sabath announced late today that David M. Milton, New York financier, had been subpoenaed to appear here Monday at 10 a. m. before the Sabath congressional committee investigating insurance company receiverships.

Congressman Sabath said Milton, president of the Equity corporation, an investment trust, had been served by committee agents in Washington while under subpoena by the Security Exchange commission.

Milton's name has figured prominently in three days of testimony this week in the committee investigation of the collapse in August, 1933, of the Missouri State Life Insurance company, St. Louis.

Witnesses testified Milton was the principal behind organization of the General American Life Insurance company, which took over the insolvent Missouri State Life.

Arthur Coburn, Dallas, Tex., vice-president of the Southwestern Life Insurance company testified today that Milton and his associates "took a walk" (sold out) with "approximately $1,000,000 profit" in March, 1936, after operating General American Life less than three years.

Coburn on the witness stand the greater part of three days, drew the picture of interlocking insurance companies as follows:

Milton and Equity associates organized General American Life to take over Missouri State Life. The Missouri State owned 105,000 shares or 52½ per cent of Southwestern Life stock. Southwestern Life interests organized Southwestern Investors corporation. The latter in March bought 90 per cent control of General American Life from Milton and associates.

Further, Coburn said, Southwestern Life bought a $2,400,000 bond issue Southwestern investors corporation used to buy General American control. Consequently, he said, Southwestern Life got back control over its own stock which had been held by Missouri State Life company.

Chairman Sabath paid high tribute to Coburn's character and frankness, and Rep. O'Malley said: "It is a relief and a novelty, Mr. Coburn, for this committee to get direct answers to direct questions from a man of high finance."

State Re-Arrests Vermont Governor

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 3.—(AP)—A day of swift developments in the sensational Rutland Marble Savings bank case saw the state re-arrest Vermont's gray-haired governor, Charles M. Smith, president of the bank.

The lanky, 68-year-old state executive stalked alone into municipal court voluntarily to answer a summons for his arrest on a charge of misprision of felony—a charge dismissed two days ago by the county court because it lacked jurisdiction.

Smith sat silently as his counsel waived the reading of the charge, specifically accusing him of concealing a former bank bookkeeper's theft. He left after his counsel had entered for him a plea of innocent and had succeeded in cutting in half the $6,000 bail under which he was held when the case was before the county court.

The charge of misprision against the governor, grew out of bookkeeper John J. Cocklin's alleged thefts of bank funds over a nine-year period. Cocklin was convicted Nov. 23 of embezzling $124,000 from the bank.

Stage Hands Quit, But a Collection Wins For Culture

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Culture held a decision over materialism and such in art-loving Pasadena today.

The battle in the Civic auditorium was witnessed and won last night by ermined and tuxedoed opera fans who assembled to hear the tribulations of Gilda in "Rigoletto."

Curtain time came and passed with no hint of behind-the-scenes trouble until a backstage voice boomed: "This show don't go on until somebody pays off."

The director general appeared to assure the audience all would be well as soon as funds to pay the musicians and stage-hand union workers could be raised.

The first act came and went. But the second act failed to start.

Finally patrons contributed $116 and Gilda went on to her tragic destiny.

EINSTEIN GIVES NEW THEORY TO STAR STUDENTS

Tells Astronomers How Star Acts As Magnifier

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Professor Albert Einstein today gave the world another mathematical discovery, a celestial wonder new to astronomy, showing that the space near a star is a magnifying glass.

It means that one star can, with improved astronomical instruments, be a magnifying glass, or telescope, for better seeing of another, more distant star. The reason, he explains, is the bending of light rays when they pass near the sun or any other massive star.

The rays, he finds, collect in this space as they would in a lens. Then at certain distant points the rays so collected are focussed, like the focus of a spy glass, opera glass or telescope.

Human eyes, at the right point in space, would see this star-focussed image. There are stars suitably lined up, one far behind the other, to be seen in this manner from earth. But Professor Einstein points out that present optical equipment and present resolving power of telescopes is not sufficient to make these space images visible.

He announces the "lens" effect, in Science, official journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The star magnifying glasses go back to the world-famous eclipse of the sun in 1919 which was the first verification of Einstein's general theory of relativity.

Stars whose light passed close to the sun during eclipse were photographed. Six months later, when again in the same position, but with the sun no longer near them, they were rephotographed on the same plates.

The star rays did not fall on the same places in the photographic plates, showing that the rays had been deflected, inward toward the sun, when they passed close to it during the eclipse.

Applying this bending of light, Professor Einstein says that if one star is directly behind another, the magnification will show the distant star as a halo of light around the nearby one. The halo focusses, however, at a point a vast distance beyond the lens star.

Closer to the nearby star and just off the line that focusses the halo Einstein further states, is another point where two stars would appear to the eye.

The second kind of magnification, when two stars are seen, he says will give a brighter image of the more distant star.

TORTURE SLAYING

Preston, Minn., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Authorities tonight investigated meager clues in what they said was apparently a double torture-murder of two elderly bachelor farmer brothers sometime last night.

The farmers, Knute Oleson, 67, and Severt Oleson, 71, were found dead this morning.

Severt, whose body was found in the farm house, had a slashed throat, three of his fingers had been cut off. Officers said that the evidence showed that he was tortured by bandits who attempted to force him to tell the location of money on the premises.

Knute's body was found in the farm yard, near a straw stack. He had been shot.

A wallet in Knute Oleson's pocket contained $830. Officials said they were unable to learn whether the badits had found any money in the house.

"GOD SAVE THE KING"

London, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Two striking instances of King Edward's popularity were evidenced here tonight:

A first night audience at the new play "O, Mistress Mine'" broke into lengthy appiause after standing at attention when the orchestra played the national anthem.

Wave upon wave of cheering was sent up after a crowd of 7,000 sang "God Save the King" at conclusion of a peace meeting in Albert hall.

DR. TOWNSEND INDICTED FOR 'TAKING WALK'

Named In Warrant For Flouting House Group

Associates Included; May Be Served Before Christmas

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—In a rare procedure, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, author of the $200-a-month old age pension plan, and two aides, were indicted on contempt charges by a federal grand jury today for flouting the authority of the house of representatives.

Storm center of legislative and political controversies for the last two years, the elderly California physician was charged specifically with defying a special house committee investigating his old age pension organization.

Indicted with him were the Rev. Clinton Wunder of New York and John B. Kiefer of Chicago, both of whom were regional directors of the Townsend organization.

Six months ago, Townsend created an uproar when he strode angrily from the house committee hearing room and flatly refused to testify further. After being refused permission to read a prepared statement to the committee, the pension advocate called the group "unfair and unfriendly," clapped his straw hat on his head and marched from the room.

Subsequently, both Wunder and Kiefer ignored committee subpoenas ordering them to testify concerning the contributions to the Townsend movement which Representative Bell (D-Mo), chairman of the investigating committee, estimated ran as high as $1,200,000 annually.

Court officials said Townsend and his aides would be given an opportunity to surrender before warrants are issued for their arrest. Harry L. Underwood, assistant United States attorney, said he believed they would be arraigned before the Christmas holidays. Wunder and Kiefer have agreed to appear, Underwood said, but Townsend's whereabouts were unknown.

Conviction of the trio, Underwood said, would make them liable to fines ranging from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment for one month to a year.

Townsend's old age revolving pension plan, which grew from a pamphlet basis in 1934 to a nation-wide organization with a membership estimated in the millions by its leaders, would provide for pensions of $200 monthly to every person over 60. The money would be payable from the federal treasury but financed by a two-percent "transaction tax."

Insull Settles With "Hostess"

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Attorneys for Samuel Insull and Mme. Helen Coyimzoglu announced today a settlement had been made of the Greek matron's claims for $40,000 worth of jewelry she said Insull promised her while she sheltered him in Athens in 1933.

Floyd Thompson, Insull's counsel, and Peter Kouridas of New York, Mme. Coyimzoglu's lawyer, refused to disclose the amount.

Mme. Coyimzoglu accepted the Insull offers in a telegram from New York, Kouridas said. Kouridas left for New York immediately after the conference.

The Athens woman came here and threatened to sue the former utilities magnate unless he returned to her $40,000 in jewelry she said he gave her only to have Mrs. Insull reclaim it later.

Attorney Thompson declined to comment on printed reports that the matter had been settled for $4,000 cash.

Move to Protect Sea Otter Island

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Fear that international poachers might seize the rich prize of rare sea otters newly discovered in Alaskan waters brought quick action by the Bureau of Fisheries today to guard their breeding grounds.

The island from which these most valuable of all fur animals were sighted by Comdr. L. V. Kielhorn of the coast guard cutter Chelan lies within the territory embraced by the treaty signed in 1911 by the United States, Great Britain, Russia and Japan to protect the virtually extinct sea otter and fur seal.

Ward T. Bower, chief of the Alaska service, said resident custodians would be sent to the island next spring, and that in the meantime the otter herd would be patrolled as frequently as possible.

A strict censorship on all information concerning the location of the island was ordered by Commissioner Frank T. Bell who reported his action to Senator Thomas (D-Okla), sponsor of the game preserve idea.

DROWNS IN TANK

Collison, Ill., Dec. —(AP)—Roy Nathan Cunningham, 3[illegible], owned in a horse watering tank today his parents' farm near here. His parents said they believed he was taken ill and fell into the tank.

Tries New 'Branches' of Aviation

When Fred Koehlein, 25, saw the propeller of his plane was gone, he tried for an emergency landing on a playground in Rochester, N. Y., but a roof and an electric line forced him to sideslip into a tree, where his craft is shown, perched precariously. The branches held firm. Koehlein slipped out of the cockpit, vaulted to the roof of a garage below, and slid to the ground, unhurt.

King Edward Fights To Wed Simpson And Remain British King

By The Assaciated Press.

London, Dec. 4.—(Friday)—Great Britain's precedent breaking monarch, staunch in the face of demands he give up his throne or Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, sped early today to a rendezvous with the woman the Empire's strongest forces said he must not marry as long as he is England's king.

A swift series of conferences between Edward VIII, his prime minister, and the Queen Mother apparently were unsuccessful in their purpose to break the strong willed ruler's determination to live his private life as he chooses.

Speeding from Buckingham Palace shortly before dawn, he drove to his secluded lodge at Fort Belvedere where Mrs. Simpson, alone save for servants, waited throughout the night while Edward argued their destinies.

At the end of 48 hours the King still was defiant of the ultimatum Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, arch enemy of the ruler's marriage to a twice divorced woman, laid before the King—that he and his cabinet would resign unless Edward bowed to their will.

An attempt to bring the crisis before parliament failed when Baldwin arose in the afternoon and said quietly he "had no statement to make," indicating the young ruler had won the first round in a battle which many believed might have forced his abdication.

From Fort Belvedere, where he spent the early part of the day with Mrs. Simpson and the Duke and Duchess of York, the King rushed back for an early evening heart-to-heart talk with his mother, Queen Mary, in Marlborough house.

He did not remain for dinner, as did the Duke and Duchess of York, heirs presumptive to the throne should he abdicate, but went immediately to Buckingham Palace for a fifty minute session with the obdurate prime minister—the second in two days and the third this week.

The prime minister emerged from the palace with a weary and stern visage, proceeded directly to the house of commons where he remained closeted with parliamentary leaders of the crown and the British Empire.

Baldwin was expected to go before parliament again tomorrow, but whether he would be in any better position to make a statement was his secret.

The King, after Baldwin's departure, returned to Marlborough House for another long talk with Queen Mary while his brothers—the Duke of York, Glouchester and Kent—held a separate consultation in York's Picadilly residence.

Far into the morning hours the constitutional storm over the monarch's believed desire to marry Mrs. Simpson raged from No. 10 Downing street to the farthest posts of the Empire.

Persistent rumors that Baldwin speedily would force Edward's abdication were not borne out by developments during the day and night.

Authoritative opinion hardened into belief a solution for the impasse still could be attained.

HORNER REPRIEVES

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Joseph Rappaport's scheduled execution at two minutes after midnight for the murder of Max Dent, a government informer, was delayed late today by telephoned notification from the governor's office that a reprieve had been granted.

Rappaport was convicted of murdering Dent on Oct. 8, 1935, some weeks before Dent was to have testified against him in a narcotics case.

The governor's office said at Springfield the reprieve was to Jan. 15, giving attorneys for Rappaport an opportunity to perfect an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

100,000 Idle In U.S. Because Of Labor Disputes

Most Major Controversies Go Unsettled to Stop Activity

By the Associated Press.

More than 100,000 persons were idle in the United States yesterday (Thursday) because of strikes.

Several scattered labor disputes were settled, but major controversies curtailed production at important automobile and glass manufacturing centers and hindered maritime commerce.

The Ford Motor Company's Lincoln-Zephyr division shut down because of a shortage of frames usually obtained from the strike-bound Midland Steel Products Company. Assembly departments of the Plymouth division of the Chrysler Corporation and parts of the Briggs Manufacturing Company had previously closed. International President Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers of America estimated 72,000 Detroiters were temporarily jobless in the stalemate.

Striking maritime workers planned mass meetings, parades and demonstrations at San Francisco "to acquaint the people with the real issues" of the walkout that has affected more than 37,000 workers.

President G. W. McCabe of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers demanded that the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company send spokesmen to Pittsburgh for a conference incident to a strike already involving 7,300 workers. He specifically asked a parley on the "Ottawa situation to prevent it spreading to Toledo." The 6,000 Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company workers have been out for six weeks. The 1,300 employes of the Ottawa, Ill., branch of Libbey-Owens-Ford began a "sit down" strike Wednesday, claiming at $4,000,000 order from the Chrysler company had been shifted there from Pittsburgh to defeat the Pittsburgh strike.

Two agents of the Pennsylvania department of welfare went to Reading to investigate conditions at the Berks county jail. The capacity of the jail was overtaxed by the arrest of 146 pickets who participated in "lie down" demonstrations at the Berkshire Knitting Mills.

A truce terminated a "sit down" strike that affected approximately 5,000 employes of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron, Ohio.

MUST BE A REASON

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Columbia approves of kissing, but at New York University—Uh-Uh.

Editors of the Columbia Spectator and the N. Y. U. Washington Square Bulletin said today that Columbia students approved kissing to the tune of 59 to 1 while N. Y. U. students voted three to one against it, in recent polls.

Mrs. Chris Kuhlenn was a Beardstown shopper in the city yesterday.

KING EDWARD IN LOVE—TOLD ALL OVER THE WORLD

Only In Germany And Russia Papers Are Silent

Editorial Opinion Divided On Question of Marriage

By the Associated Press.

Around a world long-girdled by the broad British Empire there was one universal story today—the story of a king in love.

Only in Germany and Russia were the people kept ignorant of the dramatic battle of Edward of England to hold both his throne and the woman he loves.

Everywhere else, in British dominions and in their neighbors, public and press debated the all-important question:

"Should he marry her?"

There was no unanimity of opinion.

In Canada, where Prime Minister Mackenzie King declined comment, the Winnipeg Tribune declared cryptically:

"Mr. Baldwin is right. The king, as the king, must hold high the trust his revered father passed on to him."

An unofficial canvass of ministers and parliament members in Canberra, Australia, made it plain they would support the cabinet against the king.

Well-informed circles in London attached significance to India's reaction because the crown is the strongest link with the empire.

The Bombay Chronicle, favoring King Edward in the controversy, stated:

"The king is trying to render a distinct service to British democracy by proposing as its head to marry democratically and our sympathies are with him."

The press in Paris splashed on page one, with pictures, stores of the situation in London.

Editorial comment was brief because of the suddenness of the developments.

The Rome press, breaking a complete silence, printed columns of news from London but without editorial comment.

Vienna made Mrs. Simpson the main topic in coffee house conversations.

Viennese newspapers for the most part maintained a solemn attitude and said they expected "a solution worthy of traditional British statesmanship."

In Athens, the first news of the developments in London was not published because, it was stated, it was not believed.

In Germany, copies of the "Muenchner Zeitung" were confiscated after it had appeared with the headline "Constitutional Crisis in England—Severe Tension Throne and Cabinet."

The public in Soviet Russia remained ignorant of the crisis in London, the press failing to make a single mention of it as it filled its pages with praise for the new Russian constitution and news from Spain.

Even President Roosevelt's speech in Buenos Aires received a bare half-column in the press, which featured what the Russian writers interpreted as an attack on Fascism.

Chinese Minister Asks Jap Apology

Nanking, Dec. 3.—(AP)—In a virtual ultimatum to Japan, General Chang Chun, Chinese foreign minister, tonight demanded "immediate satisfaction" for the reported landing of 1,000 Japanese marines in the Chinese city of Tsingtao.

Gen. Chang Chun summoned Shigeru Kawagoe, the Japanese ambassador, to the foreign office and presented three demands:

1. Immediate withdrawal of Japanese troops of Tsingtao.

2. Return of Chinese documents allegedly seized by Japanese bluejackets in a raid on Chinese government offices.

3. Release of Chinese officials assertedly arrested by Japanese at Stingtao.

Foreign office attaches described the meeting of the two diplomats as "stormy" and said Gen. Chang Chun's protest was "hotly phrased."

The reported landing of Japanese warriors at Tsingtao, according to the Domei (Japanese) News Agency, was carried out as a precaution against possible disorders arising from the enforced idleness of 36,000 Chinese cotton-mill workers.

HEAD-ON COLLISION

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—A brakeman was killed and a fireman severely injured in a head-on collision of two Illinois Central freight trains here tonight.

Harry Anderson, 44, of Champaign, was killed, and John Barhan, 41, of Champaign, was injured. Both were on the north bound train.

The wreck occurred 400 yards south of the Champaign station when the throwing of a switch sent an empty south bound train into a coal train headed north.

Five cars were wrecked, both locomotives demolished, and the track torn up, delaying a Chicago-bound express for 10 minutes.

Harker Rites Will Be Held at U. of I. Auditorium Today

Carbondale, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Private funeral services will be held here tomorrow morning for Judge Oliver A. Harker, dean emeritus of the University of Illinois College of Law, who died this morning.

Harker, a member of the university's faculty from 1897 to 1916, succumbed to pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Hewitt.

Tomorrow afternoon the body of the 92-year-old jurist, author and professor, will be taken to Champaign. University students and officials and state dignitaries will pay honor to the distinguished native son in rites in the university auditorium Saturday afternoon. Burial will be made in Rose Lawn cemetery, Champaign.

EXHIBITORS AT INTERNATIONAL AUCTION STOCK

Carrying Home More Than Million In Sales, Prizes

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Exhibitors at the International Livestock Exposition started carrying home today upwards of a million and a quarter dollars derived from sales and prizes.

The grand champion steer of the show, G. Gage 3629, was sold for $3 a pound to Charles R. Walgreen, Chicago Drug store magnate.

Thus Walgreen became the owner of the highest priced beef in the world. He announced the 18 months old 1020 pound animal would be taken to his Hazlewood farm at Dixon, Ill. Heretofore it has been the practice to slaughter the grand champion steer.

Computed at $3 a pound, Oklahoma A. and M. college, owner of G. Page, will receive $3,060 from the sale in addition to several hundred dollars in prize money won by the champion.

The reserve champion, WHR Super Domino, from the Wyoming Hereford ranch at Cheyenne, Wyo., brought 70 cents a pound. The Hereford was bid in by Pfaelzer Brothers for a Chicago night club which paid $1,309 for him.

The champion carload of steers, shown by J. F. Mommsen of Miles City, Iowa, was bought by [illegible] and Bill's restaurant, Miami Beach, Fla. The 15 animals averaged 1,100 pounds each and brought 27½ cents a pound or $3,577.75.

Auctioneering which started today will continue through Saturday, the closing of the exposition.

Exposition officials estimated that sale of meat animals will bring their owners more than a million dollars.

Four hundred and fifty two carloads of meat cattle, officials estimated, would sell for approximately $965,000. Proceeds from the sale of 76 carloads of swine was estimated at $49,000 and 42 carloads of sheep at $20,500. Sales of breeding cattle, swine and sheep was estimated at $50,000. Private sales during the exposition, B. H. Heide, manager, said, probably would amount to $50,000.

In addition the exposition posted $100,000 in prize money, bringing the total close to a million and a quarter dollars.

The champion carlot of lambs sold for 30½ cents a pound, three and a half cents over last year's price. The 50 lambs in the load averaged 77.7 pounds each, assuring $2,369 for the exhibitor, C. J. Brodie of Stouffville, Ont., Canada.

Maritime Strikers Appeal to Public

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Striking maritime unions tonight made an unprecedented bid for public support, marshaling thousands of members for mass meetings, parades and demonstrations "to acquaint the people with the real issues" of the widespread walkout.

Unsuccessful in their attempt to win active support from eastern longshoremen's leaders, coast strike chiefs made plans for large scale public appeals in San Francisco. They also called a mass meeting in the Los Angeles harbor area tonight.

They sought to further not only the western longshoremen's "inland march" among warehouse and transportation workers but also to focus general attention on their charge that three large shipping concerns were responsible for prolonging of the strike.

Already they had the endorsement of the San Francisco Labor Council recognizing the maritime strike as "a fight for the preservation of the labor movement on the Pacific coast."

A representative of the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild announced his members would be assessed one per cent of their wages for the duration of the strike as a benefit to the maritime unions.

One Seattle terminal bustled with activity as union men prepared to load two government operated ships with emergency supplies for Alaska.

Hawaii awaited action on renewed pleas for emergency service.

Helen Adams of Roodhouse was included in the number of business visitors in the city yesterday.

MADRID BATTLE RAGES IN WEST; BOMBS LESSEN

Planes Do Little Damage In City On Two Visits

British Investigators Cable For Gas Masks

Madrid, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Fascist warplanes bombed Madrid twice today while opposing infantry forces were locked in battles for possession of the city's western suburbs.

The raiders loosed a score of explosive bombs in the Rosales area and in Retiro Park, hardby government artillery emplacements.

The roar of the exploding bombs mingled with the boom of artillery fire concentrated on the rear guards of the forces battling in the Casa De Campo, along the Manzanares river bank, and in the Moncloa and Pozuelo-Aravaca sectors.

Today's bombings did not cause appreciable damage.

Outside Madrid, massed government forces strove to cut the communications line between the advance units of Gen. Francisco Franco's men and their rear.

The government militia centered their attack on the gentle slopes of the Casa De Campo.

Madrid forces were hard pressed in the Pozuelo-Aravaca areas with reliable reports indicating Franco was trying to cut the main highroad into France leading through the northern Madrid suburb of Tetuan De Las Victorias.

Both the towns of Tetuan and Fuencarral, still farther to the north, suffered heavily during the last three days of aerial bombardment.

The government leaders asserted its forces in the north were advancing "victoriously on Oviedo, Vitoria, and Burgos, the seat of the Fascist Junta.

A war ministry report said seven machine guns and 30,000 cartridges were captured in battles at El Lano and La Mata near San Martin De-Gurulles in the Grado area.

(Reports from Bilbao, Spain, said Basque militiamen, fighting in the service of the Madrid government, encircled Villarreal and were within striking distance of Vitoria which their planes bombed.)

Militia leaders reported back from the front that their columns were threatening Vitoria and Bugos itself.

On the Guadalajara front, northeast of Madrid, government artillery shelled their foes' positions between Castiblanco and Membrilla.

A group of British members of Parliament, visiting Madrid for first hand investigations of the civil war, cabled their House of Commons today asking gas masks for citizens of Madrid.

(In Valencia, Spanish government leaders said today foreign reports of Germans having landed in Cadiz and other Spanish Fascist ports would probably be used as protests to the special League of Nations council session scheduled for Dec. 10 on the Spanish civil war.)

Farm Leaders Ask Even Broader Act Than Old AAA

Include Seven Point Program for Every Phase of Farming

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Assailing "rugged agricultural individualism," farm leaders from the wheat states today proposed a federal program—even broader than the old AAA—covering all phases of the industry—"from seeding to decent distribution."

Major planks in their seven-point proposal included adjustment of production, an ever-normal granary, "prudent disposal" of burdensome surpluses, and yield insurance.

M. W. Thatcher, chairman of a sub-committee which drafted the program, replied "absolutely" when asked if the production adjustment plank meant something similar to the adjustment programs held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Thatcher, who is associated with the Farmers National Grain Corporation, said he did not believe a constitutional amendment necessary to provide authority for production adjustment.

A resolution adopted unanimously by the farmers' conference said:

"Because of lack of plans, and plans declared unconstitutional, the taxpayers have been required to pay hundreds of millions of dollars into the federal treasury to provide many types of agricultural relief to bankrupt farmers—subsidies in many forms. Some of these subsidies may be listed as including those for food, seed, doles, made work, charity and what not.

"In lieu of the many subsidies presently being paid from the federal treasury, agriculture desires, as apparently the president also desires, that as soon as possible a business plan with a lesser annual cost to the taxpayers and with a fair deal to the farmers may be devised and applied as an implement to those farm programs now in effect."

John Obert was a caller in the city yesterday from Franklin.

The Spelling Contest

The best spellers of the county grade schools will assemble in Jacksonville Saturday of this week to decide the county championship. District champions already have been named in a series of contests. It is now up to one of these students who has previously won honors for himself and for his school, to convince the judges that he is superior to all other contestants. Victory in the county contest is a coveted honor, as it means a trophy and a trip to the state spelling match at Springfield, which is held in connection with the Illinois Educational association convention shortly after the Christmas holidays.

Revival of interest in spelling during the last few years has gone a long way toward making better students. It also prepares them for the everyday life to follow. Ability to spell is a great asset to any person; inability to spell is a handicap that follows one through life. The boys and girls who are now becoming good spellers because of interest promoted by the district and county contests, are preparing themselves to more capably carry on careers later on.

There is something about being a good speller that gives personal satisfaction. The boys and girls who have won district contests are proud of their accomplishments. Their parents and teachers also are interested in their success. Spelling contests have been interesting events since pioneer times, when spelling bees occupied considerably more attention than they do today.

County and state spelling contests create interest not only among the select group of students that finally meets in the finals, but among entire student bodies. Students who compete and lose out in the race are not really losers—they are winners, because their knowledge of words has been increased.

They Tell Us This Much

The United States Secret Service has become talkative. It has reorganized its districts, and will shift offices in certain principal cities. One of these branch offices is to be established in the federal building at Springfield, which will be nearest to Jacksonville of any of the offices of this under-cover government agency. The most remarkable feature of the reorganization of the Secret Service is that an announcement was made concerning it. The U. S. Secret Service is noted for its tight-mouthed policies.

Citizens who have read of the changes in the Secret Service set-up need not expect frequent bulletins from now on as to operations of the organization. Officials have said that they are moving, but that is all.

The new alignment of districts, to facilitate speedier handling of cases, grouped in a closer knit organization will be viewed only casually by the public. Under the new plan Illinois will be included in District 9. Other states in the district include Wisconsin and Illinois, with Thomas J. Callaghan in charge, the head offices being in Chicago. The public may be assured that the changes will improve the service, but just how it does not know.

From now on, the U. S. Secret Service will proceed as usual, telling nothing, but producing results. The change in districts could have been effected without public announcement, but for once the least known organization in the United States got a little publicity.

Why Change the Name?

The new management of the St. Louis Browns, the only major baseball club that has never won a pennant, is seriously considering a change of name for the team. A contest has been announced for fans in which they are to write letters not to exceed 150 words, telling why the lowly Browns should be rechristened, or why the name should be left unchanged. Several season passes will reward the authors of the best letters.

We do not intend to enter a letter in the contest, but would like to express our views of the matter. We are definitely against a change of name for the Browns.

The Browns have been buffeted about in the American league for many years. They have started the season like a house-afire, knocking off the Cardinals in city series, bowling over the first few opponents in the regular season, only to fold up by the time hot weather arrived. They have started seasons like a bunch of amateurs, only to round out the fall campaign in championship style. The Browns have played all kinds of ball, while fans of the middlewest sat back and watched their efforts, sometimes with hope, sometimes with despair, and other times with a big grin.

The Browns have gone through all of these years under one name. A change of ownership is heralded as a hopeful sign. Should the Browns engage in a successful season next year and grab a pennant, why rob them of the glory by calling them something else. When the St. Louis Americans perch on the top of the heap we want to see them there as the Browns. The victory would be much sweeter.

Best Seller of the Ages

Next Sunday, Dec. 6, will be observed by all the world as Universal Bible Sunday. Every citizen can take part in this observance by reading his Bible and attending church.

The importance of the Bible in the lives of American people continues to be manifested in the fact that each year the Holy Book outsells any other of the hundreds of thousands of popular works of fiction or non-fiction. Translated into modern terms, the Bible is the best seller of the ages.

The Bible was first translated and printed in the English language about 400 years ago, but for centuries prior to that, the Bible had been the spiritual and moral guide of a large part of the human race.

From a purely cultural standpoint, the religious significance of the Bible, its value as an historical and spiritual document, and its influence upon modern literature make it an essential volume in any individual's education.

It's influence for betterment of mankind is immeasurable. Today, it remains a work of living literature, its beauty, its philosophy, its clarity and its message combing to surpass all writings of the ages.

Stay With 'Em King!

Jacksonville is a long way from London. King Edward VIII and his friend, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, have no personal acquaintances in this community, as far as we are aware. Yet yesterday this office received a number of telephone inquiries as to the status of the King and some of the British "big-shots," who are dead set against his courting the American-born woman.

Citizens of this community, nor of any other American community, have any personal interest in what is taking place behind the governmental scenes in the British Empire. But they are interested to a considerable extent, probably because Mrs. Simpson hails from this country.

George Barr McCutcheon used to write intensely interesting stories about young American men who went to an imaginary kingdom of Graustark, and struck up acquaintanceship with noble women. The hero of the first story married the princess. American readers devoured the yarn with such relish that Mr. McCutcheon sat down to his typewriter and rattled off more stories, a couple of which were entitled "Prince of Graustark" and "Truxton King." The American always got his girl in those Graustark books.

Now, in real life, we have the tables turned. It is not a good-looking young man from Detroit or Birmingham who went over and picked himself a wife from foreign nobility, but a woman from Baltimore who exercised her charms on a king. And it wasn't a small monarchy, or one existing only in a novelist's imagination.

The average American is secretly proud of Wally, though they may not approve of some of the divorce complications that have taken place. She apparently is well on her way to do something no other American has ever done, engineering a romantic revolution that threatens the peace and tranquility of all England.

Americans do not wish her excursions into the affections of King Edward to result in any serious government complications. But they are reading with satisfaction her continued progress in this romantic adventure.

As for King Edward, himself, American admiration seems to be increasing as he stands pat on his right to visit the attractive Mrs. Simpson. Should the King become angry and tell his prime ministers where to head in, Americans probably would side in with him.

"Stay with 'em, King," seems to be the sentiment on this side of the water.

New System for Congress

In January, 1935, as soon as the session of Congress had organized and reported the fact to President Roosevelt, he immediately delivered his now famous message on the "state of the union," which had reverberations thereafter, even down to the recent presidential campaign. Congress will meet in its next session January 6. What will the President then do? Will he deliver his annual message on the state of the union?

There will be an intervening period until January 20, the date on which Mr. Roosevelt will be inaugurated to "preserve, protect and defend the constitution" for another four years.

Perhaps the President will reserve his message on the state of the union until the date of his inauguration for a second term, and make the two speeches in one. Official Washington is speculating on the matter, for President Roosevelt has given no intimations of his intentions.

And about the budget message? Will that be given to Congress in the second week of the session, before the inauguration? Or will it wait until the formalities of a new regime are out of the way?

President Roosevelt said with a smile recently that the budget message should not be delayed, which may mean it will go to Congress early in the session. In that case he will set another precedent, but it will be well to let Congress have plenty of time to mull over the budget.

To Prevent Common Colds Avoid Drafts and Dampness

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Rhinitis is a name given to the condition of a running nose or an inflammation of the nose. It begins with a burning and pricking sensation, some times with much sneezing, and proceeds to the common symptoms that everybody recognizes.

Many kinds of germs have been blamed as the cause of the running nose, or common cold; but not one of them has been identified as the only cause of this condition.

Experts are beginning to believe that many different germs may be involved in various cases. In addition to germs, there are also what we called predisposing causes.

Sitting in a draft, wearing too much or too little clothing, being exposed to cold, getting the feet wet, working or worrying excessively, eating improper or too much food have been mentioned as possibly being associated with the easy catching of cold.

Experts recognize three stages as common in the development of a cold.

The first is what is called the dry stage, marked by a dryness in the nose, with some burning and discomfort. Occasionally, also, there is headache, tiredness, aching of the body, and in very severe cases, the beginning of chills and fever.

This stage is followed by one in which the nose swells and becomes obstructed so that breathing is difficult. There is tingling and itching and, as a result, much sneezing.

Just about this time a thin, watery fluid will begin to run from the nose, so much, sometimes, as to require the use of innumerable handkerchiefs. In some instances this may cause the nostrils and lips to become irritated.

During this period the victim feels miserable. Gradually the fluid discharge begins to thicken.

During this third stage the general aching and the headache subside. Finally the swelling begins to disappear, and the cold is over.

There are, of course, instances in which the condition generally becomes much worse and, as a result, secondary complications develop which are more serious than the original cold.

It is, of course, much better to prevent a cold than to have one. Since the exact cause of colds is not known, it is best to avoid exposure to drafts and dampness, sudden changes from hot to cold, and over-exposure to cold.

The diet during the winter season particularly should be well balanced, and it may be desirable to make certain that the vitamins are adequate.

There is no proof that either vitamin A or vitamin D (which are the vitamins of cod liver oil and halibut liver oil) prevent colds or cure colds after they have developed. There is proof, however, based on experiments with animals, that the absence of these vitamins results in breaking down the efficiency of the mucous membranes.

From time to time it has been suggested that vaccines made of the various germs involved in colds would help to resist a cold. The value of such vaccines has not, however, been established. Occasionally, a person who tries them seems thereafter to have fewer colds than formerly. The number of colds, however, varies from season to season, depending on such factors as weather, the extent of crowding, and similar considerations.

Firemen Wind-up Check of Hazards

Find Business District in Good Condition After Making Survey

Members of the Jacksonville fire department have completed a check-up of the business and industrial sections of the city and have reported to the chief that conditions are satisfactory.

The survey, made in an effort to prevent fires, was made by members of the force who were not on duty. They rummaged around in the basements and upper floors of business establishments and factories in an effort to locate anything which might lead to conflagrations, and reported that all buildings are being kept free of debris and that exposed wiring appeared to be in good condition.

Chief of the Fire Department, Frank Sullivan, pointed out that the survey was made in the interest of protecting property, and preventing property loss.

Sheriff Has Shot Removed from Jaw

Still Has Some of Pellets from Shotgun in Wrist and Hand

Sheriff Kenneth Woods of this county underwent a minor operation Thursday morning at the office of Dr. H. L. New for the removal of a shotgun pellet which became lodged in his jaw one night last winter when he and other officers surprised Clarence Miller and others while they were unloading coal along the Wabash tracks. Miller opened fire on the sheriff with a shotgun.

The pellet removed yesterday had been flattened on one side as the result of coming in contact with the sheriff's jaw bone. The small piece of lead had not been causing him much difficulty until recently when his jaw became slightly irritated.

Previously, the sheriff has had one pellet removed from near the root of one of his lower front teeth, and a few pellets from his hand and arm. There are additional pellets in his wrist which cause some difficulty at times, he said.

Miller is scheduled to come up for parole in the near future.

Name Pittsburgh For Rose Bowl Grid Classic To Play University Of Washington

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Pittsburgh was selected today to play the Unipersity of Washington in the Rose Bowl football classic New Year's day.

The decision was announced at a dinner tonight by Ray Eckmann, director of athletics at the University of Washington. He said:

"The Huskies and the football committee of the Pasadena tournament of roses encountered many problems in reaching the decision and made every effort to do a real job."

The Panthers have come to Pasadena for the annual New Year's day game on three previous occasions.

They lost to Stanford, 7 to 6, in 1928, were defeated by Southern California, 17 to 14, in 1930, and were again beaten by the Trojans in 1933, 35 to 0.

In the 1936 season they reached smashing heights in a 26 to 0 victory over Notre Dame's fighting Irish, and a 19 to 6 triumph over the powerful Cornhuskers of Nebraska. Their record was tarnished by an upset at the hands of Duquesne, 7 to 0, and a tie with Fordham, 0 to 0.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Don Harrison, director of atletics at the University of Pittsburgh, said tonight the Panthers would accept the Rose Bowl bid.

Modified Subsidies To Be Studied Soon

"Reynolds Plan" Coming Up at Big Ten Meeting

Chicago—(AP)—The "Reynolds plan" for modified subsidization of athletes may be thrown for a loss by the faculty committee at the Big Ten's annual winter meeting tomorrow and Saturday.

Presentation of the plan, formulated by Prof. Robert L. Reynolds of the University of Wisconsin, promises to make the meeting one of the liveliest since the "Iowa case" in 1929. In direct conflict with a conference eligibility rule, the plan is likely to be turned down, but at the same time is expected to open discussion on the question of giving athletes financial aid.

This, in brief, is what Wisconsin will ask the faculty committee to approve:

1—Establishment of a six-weeks summer school course of academic work and sports into which Wisconsin prep school graduates of high scholastic and athletic attainments would be admitted without charge.

2—The summer school students to be graded on their work in classes and athletics, with those meeting specified requirements awarded scholarships of $400 a year.

3—As a requirement for continuing on the scholarship list for four years, students would have to maintain a class room average of more than 1.5 grade points per hour of credit during freshman and sophomore years.

4—Beneficiaries of the scholarships would not be required to compete in athletics during their freshman and sophomore years.

Ratification of football schedules for 1937 and the framing of schedules for spring sports will come up during the two-day meeting.

FAN BREEZES

By Ernest Savage

Paul Holliday, who has been in the coaching business for about 19 years, handed in his resignation the other day to the board of education at Canton, in order to get into private business.

—o—

Holliday, who was at Peoria Manual for a long time, had one of the worst football seasons in Canton's history, and the prospects for basketball aren't much better.

—o—

Rumor has it that Ralph McKinzie, who has resigned at Eureka college, is going to be asked to finish out the year at Canton. McKinzie, who has been one of the outstanding college basketball and football coaches for a long time, will step into a difficult situation, but he has the tact and the ability to handle tough propositions.

—o—

Down at Carrollton, where they had to take three ballots before they decided Bill Banghart was the most valuable football player to his team, they also had a close race to determine who would be next year's captains.

—o—

Dick Hindelang, a big rangy end, and Bennie Earley, who tackles backhanded, plays quarterback, and does some of the ball carrying, were elected co-captains after Julius Short, a sophomore this year, had given them a good race. Short plays center.

—o—

And according to another note from Harvey Dickinson, coaching at Pleasant Hill, don't count the Pleasant Hill cagers out of the race for either the Pike county or Illinois Valley championships just yet.

—o—

Pleasant Hill has four veteran performers on its team this year, and the boys down there knocked over Milton, one of the leading favorites, in their opening game of the season. Dickinson believes his boys will improve a lot yet before they bump into any other teams as tough as the Milton outfit, and that they will be more than ready for the tough ones when they come.

—o—

M. G. Moore, in his discussion of basketball rules at the "School for Fans" the other night, sponsored by Illinois College, told of five changes which appear to be on the way for the future.

—o—

As early as next year, he said, all jump balls probably will take place in the three circles now provided. This step will be taken to avoid the congestion caused when players gather around for jump balls at places where there are no jumping circles.

—o—

Another change, almost certainly on the way, is one which will widen the present free throw lane to 12 feet, also in another effort to get away from congestion. The shape of the bankboard also may be changed, by cutting down its size.

—o—

Another change, which is undergoing some experimentation now, is that of moving the basket farther out into the court. This might make the court take on some of the appearances of a hockey court, and it is our opinion, that if the goals are moved out, they will also be raised in order to prevent accidents.

—o—

The other change has been mentioned before in these columns. It will consist of bringing a rubber ball into use in place of the present leather cased ball.

KING OF KEGLERS

The world's highest individual average bowler . . . Skang Mercurio, of Cleveland, who sports a 238 mark over a span of 90 games.

Mercurio Played Hookey From School to Become National Bowling Champ

Cleveland.—Walter (Skang) Mercurio might have been a great engineer, lawyer, or doctor if bowling hadn't blighted his education. As it was, Skang was smitten by the bowling bug at 13, played hookey to set up pins for 1 cents a game in Doik Novario's old alleys in Cleveland, and today sits on the pinnacle of the kegling heap as the highest individual average bowler in the world.

Lean and supple at 40, and still possessed of the most graceful delivery in the game, Skang gets a big kick out of looking back to those early days.

He now sports an average of 238 over a span of 90 games, recognized by the American Bowling Congress as the greatest individual achievement in the sport.

Twenty-seven years ago he was just a cocky little Italian kid setting up pins—until a member of a five-man squad rolling at Novario's failed to show up.

Skang was drafted. He clicked. He resigned his job as pin boy, began to roll tenpins for jackpots, and his career had started.

For a time baseball threatened to step in and ruin a perfectly good bowling future. Skang developed into one of the best amateur thigh sackers ever turned out on Cleveland sandlots, getting up to class Triple A with the old Tellings.

But bowling was his first love, and figuring that bad hops around the hot corner might ruin his bowling hand, the youngster gave up the diamond sport.

He's Bowled the Best

Then followed a thorough study of the game and a series of epochal matches that took him all over the east and middlewest, into 21 A. B. C. tournaments and countless five-man team matches.

During the last two decades he has bowled against nearly every noteworthy kegler in the world, has rolled 17 perfect "300" games, has compiled a total of 845 in a series of three games, and gained a background that is as colorful as that of any sport figure in the country.

Skang's greatest individual match was a losing one. It was rolled against Swede Carlson of Chicago in 1929. The contest was billed for the world championship, and was a 30-game home-and-home series.

At the end of the first 30, played in Cleveland, Skang led by 168 pins. Going into the 51st in Chicago, he led by one. From then on he slipped and wound up loser by 240 maples.

His greatest team match was rolled against a Detroit five-man squad for $1000. An agreement was made that the winner would be the first team to roll a 1200 or better total. Eleven games were finished before Skang's outfit rolled a 1268 to win in Detroit.

Siperke Up and Coming

An alley proprietor here now, Skang likes to recall a story about Jimmy Smith, greatest bowler in history in his estimation, who used to roll in these parts. The great Count Gengler of Belgium was in Cleveland giving an exhibition. The count always bowled in full-dress regalia, even to the high hat. He never used the holes of a ball, gripping it in the palm of his hand and throwing it down the alley without an approach.

Smith was just a lad. The count was looking for a match. Someone said he would get an unknown Cleveland boy who would roll him for $5000. The Belgian agreed, but specified he'd have to see the youngster roll a game first.

"Jimmy outdid himself in that game," Skang recalls. "He had a perfect delivery, his ball found the pocket every time, and when Gengler saw what he had to bowl against, he backed out of the match."

The Cleveland kegler says the best bowler in the game today is Hank Marino of Milwaukee, world's match game champion.

But, while Marino is tops now, Skang warns that there's a youngster coming up who will make the Milwaukeean step. He's 25-year-old Emil Siperke of Cleveland, who recently averaged 257 in a 12-game match in Philadelphia.

Skang sees the young fellow as the next singles champion of the world—and after 27 years of watching kids come and go, he should know.

Mrs. John T. Hopper of Roodhouse paid the city a visit yesterday.

REVEAL A.P. CHOICE FOR ALL-PACIFICS

San Francisco.—(AP)—Fleet-footed backfield men, each a triple-threat, take their places behind a fast, rugged hard-charging line in The Associated Press 1936 all-Pacific coast football team.

University of Washington, champion of the Pacific coast conference and the Far West's Rose Bowl defender New Year's Day, placed four men on the first eleven—Max Starcevich, guard; Charles Bond, tackle, and Halfbacks Byron Haines and Jimmy Cain.

Dick Bassi, guard, represents the University of Santa Clara, only undefeated, untied major team in the country. Gonzaga contributed its great halfback, George Karamatic, and Washington State College its all around quarterback star, Ed Goddard.

End positions went to Jack Clark of Stanford and Gene Hibbs of Southern California. Del Bjork, University of Oregon strong man, took over the other tackle berth. Center was won by Bob Herwig of the University of California in a runaway race.

Starcevich, polling the greatest number of votes in the consensus of coaches, officials and sports writers, won the distinction of line captain. Goddard was picked for backfield captain.

The line averages 203 4-7 pounds and the backfield 180?.

Chandlerville Gets Into Tough Battles

Ashland, Jacksonville and Beardstown to Test Comets Next

Chandlerville—With five victories to their credit the Chandlerville High Comets are approaching one of their toughest portions of the basketball season when they meet Ashland High at Chandlerville on Friday, journey to Jacksonville High school Saturday night and then on Tuesday following meet Beardstown in foreign territory.

The McMullin crew have defeated Chapin, Tallula, Forrest City, Easton and Bath so far this season. However, three of the five games have been on the Chandlerville court while they were fortunate enough to meet with their oldest rival, Bath, on the Bath floor, on what was believed to be an off-night for the Mason county aggregation.

Coach McMullin, after seeing Ashland defeat Franklin High last week, is a bit troubled over the prospects of continuing the winning streak to six consecutive victories. The Ashland crew have split their four games with two wins and as many losses. Their hard-fighting spirit along with their rushing defense is sure to give the inexperienced locals plenty of trouble.

To add to the rivalry between the Ashland and Chandlerville schools is the fact that Ashland is one up on the locals having knocked them from the perch last year 25 to 19 in a game on the Ashland court. The Comets are anxious to even up the score this year and will be battling for their sixth victory of the season. Waldron of Petersburg will officiate the game.

Little hope of a victory is entertained in the Chandlerville camp when they meet up with the veteran senior Jacksonville High outfit. A large number of seniors are reported to be in the Walker lineup this year.

The probable starting lineup against Ashland will be Atterberry and Clemons at forward, Lynn at center, Dietsch and Johnson at the guard posts.

Attendance Gained At Football Games

Survey of 50 Colleges Shows Average Gain of 50 Per Cent

New York—(AP)—An Associated Press survey covering more than 50 representative colleges today indicated football attendance rose 15 per cent over 1935, and receipts soared in about the same proportion.

This, following a ten per cent increase in 1935 over 1934, continued the upward swing since the "depression low" in 1932.

Figuring home attendance only, the survey showed that 4,829,000 fans had witnessed 217 games played by major schools in the east, midwest, south, southwest and far west. This compared with 4,056,000 at 210 games a year ago.

Although the south led in percentage gain, roughly 32 per cent, the returns were insufficient to make the figures entirely conclusive. The figurges showed an 18 per cent gain for the east and 14 per cent for the midwest. The increase in the far west was about 6 per cent, and in the southwest about 5 per cent.

Individually, Ohio State's Buckeyes, whose championship hopes nationally were ruined by Pitt, Notre Dame and Northwestern by a total margin of 11 points, was tops in home attendance with nearly 283,000. California drew 251,000 at seven home games and Navy 246,000, about 3,000 more than Princeton which ranked second in the cast.

Minnesota, with another powerful array, drew more than 244,000 to five home games, well above the figures for 1935 when the Gophers were in the midst of the long winning streak that Northwestern finally ruined in the mud at Evanston this year.

The most serious losses were suffered by Michigan, Indiana and Iowa, either because of less attractive home schedules, bad weather or poor teams.

Other attendance figures in the Big Ten for 1936 compared with 1935, figuring home games only included: (Number of home games in brackets)

| | 1936 | | 1935 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Indiana | (3) 27,275 | (3) | 48,000 |
| Purdue | (3) 71,000 | (3) | 49,700 |
| Wisconsin | (5) 95,586 | (5) | 79,414 |
| Michigan | (5) 171,000 | (5) | 186,000 |
| Iowa | (4) 64,000 | (5) | 116,000 |

Burns Uncertain About His Line-up; Chandlerville Will Play J. H. S. Saturday Night

The last of the prep basketball teams in this city will turn on their basketball steam for the first time this season in games to be played tonight and tomorrow night, when Illinois School for the Deaf makes trips to Franklin and New Berlin, and Jacksonville high entertains the Chandlerville Comets on the David Prince court Saturday night.

Coach S. Robey Burns, who got his boys off the football field for the first time the day after Thanksgiving, was still somewhat up in the air as to just what combination he would fling at the Franklin Flashes, who have been bowling over some of the stronger teams this year.

The Tiger coach has been working on Long and Clements, forwards, center, Dhondt and Schraeder, guards in games thus far. He also has nominated Wilson and Millick, forwards, Schmidt, center, Gasparino and Hogue to make the trip to Franklin, and may decide upon some changes before the double header gets underway.

Half Year Men Out

Coach Burns has decreed that the men who are eligible for basketball now, but who would become ineligible Jan. 1, need not report for basketball. The Tiger coach has a big building program ahead of him, to prepare a team for the Central States tournament which will be held here this year, as well as for the regular schedule, and he does not wish to lose time by coaching boys who will not be available after January 1.

Yesterday marked the last regular practice for the J.H.S. Crimsons, who open with the fast traveling Comets here Saturday night, and Coach Frank Walker was still up in the air for a starting line-up. He also has to replace his first team, which graduated last spring, and his prospects are anything but bright.

"Skinny" Baptist, center, Charles Ketner, forward, and Dick Baldwin, reserves from last year, Johnston, Bill Hemphill and Wayne Smith are some of the boys Walker probably will call upon to face the Chandlerville team.

The Crimsons will hold their football banquet and dance tonight and the gymnasium will be decorated for the occasion sometime today thus stopping basketball practice.

Griggsville Seeks Second Win

Also on tonight's schedule is the game which brings Griggsville over to Winchester for the second Illinois Valley game for Coach Gilbert Love's troupe, and the first for Winchester's Wildcats. The Wildcats opened their season Tuesday night by defeating Virginia, and Griggsville marked its entrance into the Illinois Valley campaign by nosing out Bluffs.

Teams all up and down the roads will be firing at the hoop tonight, initial encounters being staged for many of the quintets.

Roodhouse will open its season against the highly successful Murrayville cagers, Bob Wright will take his Pittsfield high Indians over to Pearl for the inauguray, and White Hall will open up gingerly with Rockbridge.

The schedule for Friday and Saturday nights:

Friday
I.S.D. at Franklin (2 games.)
Griggsville at Winchester.
Murrayville at Roodhouse.
Pittsfield at Pearl.
Rockbridge at White Hall.
Chapin at Modesto.
Hull at Bluffs.
Mt. Sterling at Browning.
Virginia at Tallula.
New Berlin at Waverly.
Ashland at Chandlerville.
Milton at Perry.

Saturday
Chandlerville at J.H.S.
I. S. D. at New Berlin.
Jerseyville at Gillespie.
Patterson at White Hall.
Milton at Pittsfield.

Pleasant Hill Player Wins Recognition Despite Handicap

Pleasant Hill—A physical handicap that might have kept other boys from playing football didn't bother Charley Cheek, Pleasant Hill gridder, who overcame the handicap of a crippled leg to best of his ability, played football, and so won the respect and admiration of his team-mates that today he is known as the team's most valuable player.

His team-mates on the Pleasant Hill football team voted that Charley, whose even temperament and keen competitive spirit won the respect of everyone, should have the Jacksonville Journal and Courier gold football as a memory of the days he played football on the high school team.

Charley became injured when he was in grade school, suffering an infection which caused a weak knee. Knees are important to football players, and Charley bandaged up the injured member which had failed to respond to medical treatment, put on a covered steel brace to strengthen the joint, and then began playing football.

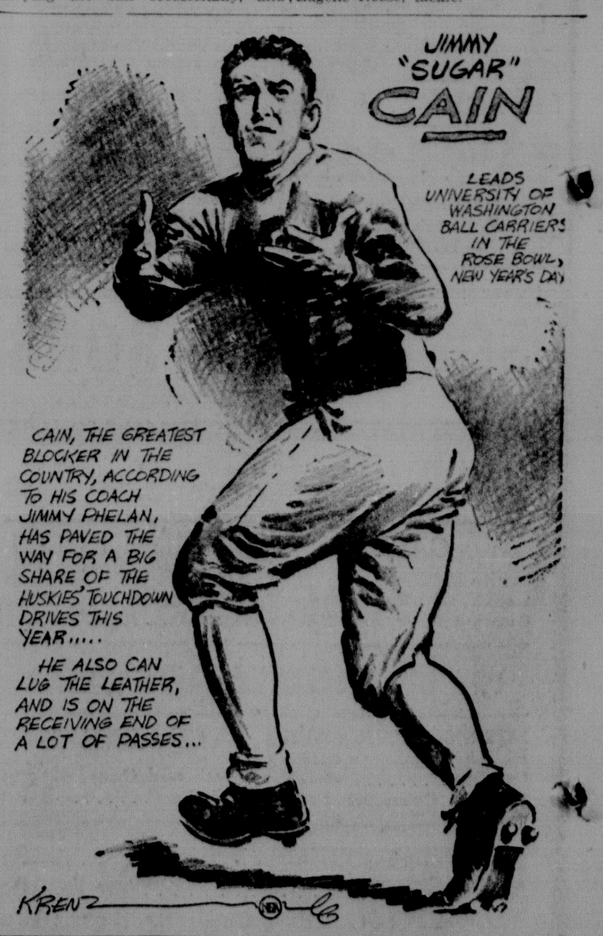

Cheek wanted to be in the thick of things, and he picked out a backfield position as the spot he wanted to play. His injury kept him from running fast, and prevented him from kicking, but it didn't keep him from carrying the ball occasionally, and from doing practically all of the passing, at which he became unusually adept.

Not only was Charley one of the best passers in the Illinois Valley conference, but he was also one of the boys whose presence on the field seemed to provide a steadying influence. That steadying influence helped the handicapped youngster display a spirit of sportsmanship which kept the Pleasant Hill team in a fine spirit through the season. He was a fine defensive player and a good tackler.

The subject of this story has one big hobby, and it's pinochle. Any time he can get in a game of pinochle, he is ready to have the time of his life. He is a good student, along with his athletics and pinochle playing.

The most valuable football player hasn't finished his athletic competition, because he is now holding down a forward position on the basketball team. He was the high scorer in the opening game with Milton.

There will be seven lost from this year's football squad by graduation, four of whom are regulars. They are Arthur Crader, fullback and captain, Charley Cheek, the most valuable player and halfback, Dave Smith, tackle, Les Goodin, end, Gerald Mooney, end, W. E. Dean, Jr., guard, and Eugene Neese, tackle.

CONTESTS ELECTION

Fairfield, Ill.—(AP)—Judge Virgil W. Mills, Republican, who lost the Wayne county state attorney race by 3 votes to Charles W. Creighton, Democratic incumbent, at the last election, filed contest proceedings late yesterday with Circuit Clerk O. C. Draper.

Mills' petition alleges there were irregularities in the election which if corrected would give him a majority of 70 votes. The petition also charged that Carson Stanley, state patrolman, and Odie Standfer, state oil inspector, neither of whom were election officials, aided in counting ballots.

The case will be heard at the January term of court.

GINGER THREATENED

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Ginger Rogers, golden-haired movie actress, has received threatening notes and has been under guard for two weeks of the federal department of justice, her mother, Mrs. Leila Rogers, said tonight.

Mrs. Rogers refused to disclose any of the details, however. She said agents of the department of justice were "nearly ready to spring the trap" and had warned her not to make any statements. She confirmed reports that her high salaried daughter had been threatened with death unless a sum of money she declined to specify was forthcoming.

Mrs. R. G. Bersig represented the Asland vicinity in the business district yesterday afternoon.

Venezuela Offers Peace Suggestion For Consideration

Would Put in One Document Five Existing Accords for War Prevention

Buenos Aires.—(AP)—The initial proposals for strengthening relations between 21 American nations were dumped into the hoppers of the inter-American peace conference today.

A Venezuelan suggestion to coordinate into one document five existing accords for prevention of war was the first handed to Felipe Espil, Argentine ambassador to the United Sttaes and secretary-general of the assembly.

Delegates, busy in informal meetings, discussed the pros and cons of individual projects proposed by their nations and enlisted support for specific proposals.

Other suggestions which have been or were to be submitted for official consideration soon included:

1. A central American project for establishment of an inter-American court of justice.

2. The Dominisan proposal for an inter-American League of Nations modeled on the lines of the Geneva body.

3. A Nicaraguan plan for a moral disarmament convention.

In addition, there were the projects of the larger nations—the United States' neutrality plan, the Argentine general peace treaty proposal, and the Chilean consultative peace scheme—which were expected to be introduced shortly.

Differences of opinion existed on each of the proposals, although the Dominican League of Nations plan drew the most criticism in preliminary discussions.

The idea was believed in conference circles to have been killed when delegates from the larger nations joined against it. It may not even emerge from the committee, it was said.

Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state, and Carlos Saavedra Lamas, Argentine foreign minister who is expected to be named president of the conference, worked over details of the officials sessions with Espil.

Judge O. A. Harker Passes Away Today; Had Notable Career

Was Dean Emeritus of U. of I. College of Law; Educator for Many Decades

Carbondale, Ill.—(AP)—Judge Oliver A. Harker, dean emeritus of the University of Illinois College of Law, died today. He was 92 years old.

Pneumonia ended the career of the pioneer teacher of law, who had been a member of the university's faculty from 1879 to 1916. After his retirement he continued for many years to conduct a course on legal ethics, required for graduation from the law school.

In recent months he had been living with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Hewitt, at whose home he died. He had been ill only several days.

Born in Vienna, Ill., Dec. 14, 1844, Judge Harker attended Wheaton College, the University of Indiana and Knox College before beginning active practice of law in 1870.

In August, 1878, he was appointed judge of the first judicial circuit by Gov. S. M. Cullom. He was elected to the bench in the same circuit in 1879, 1885, 1891 and 1897 and served on the appellate court from 1891 to 1903.

First as lecturer and then as professor and dean, Judge Harker was associated with the Illinois law school for 19 years, serving also as associate legal counsel of the university.

He was president of the Illinois State Bar association in 1895 and of the Illinois Society of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology in 1910. Gov. Len Small appointed him the state's commissioner to the national conference on uniform state laws in 1925 and he was reappointed in 1929 by Gov. Louis Emmerson.

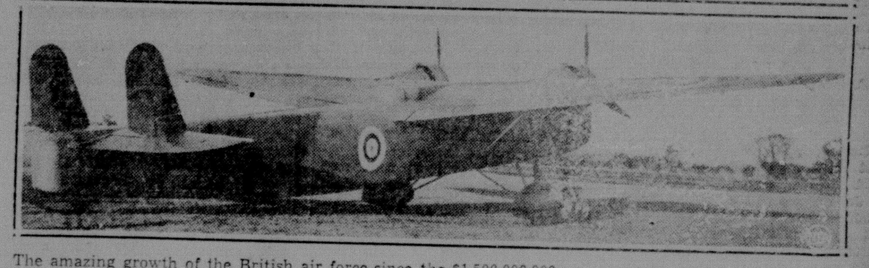

He was the author of a number of mongraphs and articles on legal problems as well as a textbook on common law pleading.

Judge Harker was married to Miss Siddie B. Bain of Vienna, Ill., March 3, 1870. They were the parents of Mrs. Hewitt and two sons, George M. Harker and Oliver A. Harker, Jr.

Mighty Feathers for Britain's New Wings

The amazing growth of the British air force since the $1,500,000,000 armaments program was instituted 18 months ago is revealed by estimates that the total of first line planes has been increased from 500 to 992, with three to four craft in reserve on each type, making a strength of more than 4,000 aircraft. The mass production methods utilized to speed manufacture of planes is shown in the upper view of the factory at Cricklewood, near London, where the deadly new Harrow bombers (below) are assembled.

Campaign Gifts are Disclosed by Quiz

Senate Investigating Committee Continues Work

Washington —(AP)— Senate investigators reported today that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave $70,000 to Republican campaign funds, while Democratic organizations received $50,000 from Mrs. James R. H. Cromwell, formerly Doris Duke, the tobacco heiress.

Their contributions were included in a list of large donations compiled by the special senate committee investigating spending in the recent campaign.

The committee said it hoped to trace the source of most of the $13,000,000 spent by scores of political organizations in the last campaign, as a basis for legislative recommendations to the president and congress.

Investigators said they expected to seek "far more drastic restrictions" on campaign expenditures than those imposed by present law.

The list made public today showed gifts totaling $50,100 from Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of New York, president of General Motors Company, to 15 anti-New Deal agencies.

Total contributions of the Rockefeller family were $103,000, the committee announced. John D. Rockefeller, 3d, gave $20,000, with the Republican national committee, the Republican national congressional committee, the national Republican senatorial committee and the Maine Republican state central committee each receiving $5,000 of that sum. Abby A. Rockefeller, of New York, reported $13,000 contributed to the Republican national committee and other Republican organizations.

RECRUITING OFFICER OBJECTED TO FIGURE

Shelton, Wash.—(AP)—When Charles Hanson, 20, sought to enlist in the marines, a shapely but altogether undraped female figure was discovered tatooed on his right arm. Maj. T. Talmadge Taylor, recruiting officer, objected vigorously to the decoration. Hanson promptly hunted up a tatoo artist who added a modish, ankle-length gown to the picture. Then Hanson joined the marines.

ENFORCE PARKING LAW

St. Louis.—(AP)—The Board of police commissioners today ordered strict enforcement of an ordinance prohibiting parking of automobiles in the downtown congested area between 7 and 9:30 a. m. The restricted zone includes seven square blocks in the heart of the business district and the order specified that a driver will not be permitted to leave his car to "run into a store for a few minutes."

Henry Ray transacted business in the city yesterday afternoon from Woodson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Newman of Murrayville paid the city a visit yesterday.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, meets BRUCE McDOUGALL, artist, shortly after the mysterious disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, to whom Marcia had been engaged. When shortages had been found in Kendrick's business accounts, Marcia is more shocked than heartbroken. She realizes she was never in love with him.

McDougall is attentive until DOROTHY OSBORN, who dislikes Marcia, leads him to believe Marcia is engaged to another man.

There is a bank holdup and police commandeer the Canfield car to follow the bandits. The car is wrecked and both Marcia and her father are injured.

McDougall, driving with Dorothy Osborn and her mother, comes upon the scene. He takes Marcia and her father to a hospital.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX

PATIENT Frank Osborn, who in fifty-odd years had accomplished only the holding of a mediocre job, the maintenance of a modest home and the rearing to rebellious womanhood of one child—oh, yes! and had, in spite of his failings, somehow managed to earn and keep the thorough devotion of Mrs. Osborn, to whom he was equally devoted—this Frank Osborn apprehensively watched the contents of a collection of pots on the stove and a roasting pan in the oven.

Mr. Osborn was not a cook—he earned his living as a bookkeeper—but a bookkeeper who at fifty-odd has never provided his wife with a servant must, for his failure, have learned during the years to be helpful in all the household duties. And tonight Mr. Osborn had been left with the responsibility for keeping dinner just this side of done, pending the return of Mrs. Osborn and Dorothy and a guest—a man guest.

He wished they'd hurry; to his time-accustomed, yet still inexpert eye, dinner appeared ready to serve, and he didn't want to be blamed for any mishaps. They had left—Dorothy and her mother—almost an hour ago, and the trip should not have taken more than 30 minutes.

He heard the car crunch through the snow in the driveway. A moment later the back door opened; Dorothy and Mrs. Osborn came in. Funny, bringing a guest in the back way.

But there was no guest.

"There's been the most awful accident!" Mrs. Osborn said, going to the stove at once, despite the news she had to tell.

"Something happen to young Mr.—?" her husband began.

"Mr. McDougall? No, he's all right. My land, you can't imagine! Bank robberies, wrecks, police in a commandeered car—I guess I'll never be the same again. Here, wait till I get my things off and we'll tell you all about it at dinner. Frank, you let that roast get a mite overdone—$2.40 worth of meat there, not a cent less. But, goodness, we were gone lots longer than we thought we'd be! You did all right. You should have seen— Here, Dorothy, we can sit right down to dinner."

"I can't eat, Mother," Dorothy replied from the stairs.

* * *

DOROTHY did not turn on the light, but sat on her bed and looked out a window at the night, at the pools which the street lamps made on the snow. No dinner party!

It was a bit hard to take—though tragedy and pain had crossed her path this evening, this was still a bit hard to take! She had no love for Marcia Canfield, yet the memory of the wrecked car and its still passengers, the memory of that awful ride to the hospital, had awakened in her a quick rush of sympathy for the hurt.

Dorothy remembered turning her car in at the hospital gate and stopping at the receiving ward door; she remembered McDougall climbing slowly out, with Marcia in his arms. She remembered his face as he had gone quickly in, and how he had watched as the doctors and nurses took over his burden.

Dorothy knew that all but Marcia had been erased from his mind.

Well—"I know now how you feel, my dear Mr. McDougall," she said softly. "After all, I was only exercising woman's right to hunt. I'm not in love with you, but you're very eligible, and I might have learned. It would have been very nice for Bobbs Neck to see you attending me, but as for my being in love, Mr. McDougall . . . that is a very secret secret, for me alone."

* * *

BRUCE McDOUGALL walked home alone, at an hour he did not know nor think to determine, and, arriving, threw off his overcoat and wandered about the rooms. Miss Sellers and her mother were away; he was glad he'd not have to talk about tonight's business. He had had to talk enough, as it was, with the policeman who had called at the hospital to add threads of information about the robbery and chase to the pattern being assembled at headquarters.

He had learned, also, of Carlo Stellicci's death, but had not been long enough in Bobbs Neck to know of the man, nor to realize Tony Stellicci's relationship. On his way home McDougall had, in fact, passed Tony and given him a nod, without knowing that the youth was returning to his own home from the police station, bearing a crushing mental burden.

McDougall sat at his drawing board and sharpened pencils mechanically, to pass the time. His thoughts were on a hospital room, and the urge to know what was passing there became too great to resist.

He rose and called the hospital. Miss Canfield? The doctors thought she was doing all right. Was she conscious yet? Why—a pause—the doctors thought she was doing all right. Despairing of getting more than a stereotyped, noncommittal reply, McDougall replaced the receiver, and half an hour later called again. Miss Canfield was progressing well. Later, Miss Canfield was doing well.

* * *

McDOUGALL fell asleep in a chair. He awakened at 4 o'clock, called again, got the same reply.

He realized he was hungry. It was only a few minutes' walk to the Dog Wagon; he'd go over for a sandwich. Suddenly he remembered he had not had dinner, and then that he had, in fact, walked out on his engagement with Dorothy Osborn!

Resolutely, he thrust the humiliating, the irritating matter aside and went out into the night, strode toward Main Street.

He had not cashed a check at the bank, but he had enough silver for a sandwich and pie and coffee, and for cigarets. Tony Stellicci was on duty at the restaurant, and the two or three other customers, aware of Carlo's relationship and of the past evening's news, were, therefore, refraining from any reference to the robbery. McDougall, silent and alone at the end of the counter, equally unwilling to discuss the affair, did not notice that the village gossip, common in conversation here, had been replaced tonight by matters further afield.

Before noon he called Dorothy, awkwardly apologetic, expecting a cold, perhaps indignant, reception. But she was charmingly understanding, and all the phrases he had tried to invent did not require saying. It had occurred to him, anticipating the talk, to ask her for a date and to arrange some extraordinary entertainment, to make amends for what he had done. Somehow he received, as if the telephone were a sympathetic, understanding instrument, the vague idea that his apology was, for the time, all that should be offered. It was mystifying, but he had the conviction that he could only let matters rest. Women, after all, were funny!

Proposed Ordinance To Regulate Cabs Here Back to First Reading

A sufficient number of changes were made in the proposed ordinance for the regulation of taxi-cabs at the regular meeting of the city council last night that the ordinance was put back on its first reading again, to come up at the next meeting of the council for its second reading.

There was a divergence of opinion among the taxi-cab owners themselves about what the ordinance should contain, and the council, after hearing three taxi-cab owners, and a surety bond company representative, finally decided to set the fees and the amount of bond to be carried by each company.

Mr. Satchel, a representative of the Franklin Mutual company, explained to the council that the state required each taxi-cab owner to carry a bond of $2,500 to cover liability, and the council reduced the figure it had previously set for taxi-cab owners to the same figure set by the state.

Then came the matter of the amount of the fee to be charged by city for a taxi-cab license and after another lengthy discussion, the council finally agreed that the amount should be $50 for the first cab, and $2 for each additional cab. During this discussion it had alternately been suggested that the fee be a straight $10 a cab, $25 for the first cab and $5 for each additional cab, and various other figures.

The ordinance, as it was finally read, did not carry the clause calling for governors to be placed on each cab, a clause which Mr. Satchel thought should be included, and which he said would be included in the bonds his company issues to local taxi-cab operators. The surety bond company representative also thought that the council should set the minimum charge for which taxi-cabs could haul a single patron, but the council decided to forego exercising this right in view of the fact that the taxi-cab operators were not agreed on what the figure should be.

Taxi-cab operators were agreed, however, that the people were pleased with the taxi service as it is now being operated, and had no objections to including the driver's license fee and the provision that the driver should display his license while operating the cab. There was some objection to having the price painted on the side of the cabs, but the provision stuck in the ordinance when the wording was changed to permit the operators to attach signs to the cabs informing the public of the rates charged.

Address Council

William Herndon and Harold Cooney addressed the council regarding the ordinance, and Dan Moore made a few remarks concerning the attitude of the public toward the taxi-cab service.

Other than the taxi-cab discussion, which was taken up first after the council had voted to dispense with the regular order of business, the evening was spent in ironing out much of the routine work. All of the aldermen were present for the meeting, over which Mayor F. J. Blackburn presided.

The aldermen had a bit of fun out of trying to figure out who should remove an abandoned automobile body from the Brook. Alderman George Brown brought up the question, by relating that an automobile body had been tossed into the Brook, but when it came to deciding who should take it out, the council wasn't certain. There were suggestions that it should be done by the Public Improvements committee, of which Robert Weaver is chairman, but the chairman said there was no money in his department.

The question was pushed about, landing once in the lap of the highway department, and then again in the water department, and then going to the ordinance department, and finally to the fire department, but there was no decision.

The council also made plans to increase the fee for making openings in improved streets by instructing the city attorney to create a new classification for streets which have been surfaced with crushed rock and oil. It was suggested by Alderman F. R. Mathews that the fee be made $20, instead of the $8.50 which formerly was charged for making an opening in a dirt street.

The water distribution department also was instructed to enforce the ordinance which requires that stop boxes be placed on the water lines leading into different houses, after George Stoldt, superintendent of the division, reported that this ordinace has been flagrantly violated in some cases in that persons have used a type other than the one designated in the ordinance, and that in other cases there was no means of shutting off the water in one house without disrupting the service through a whole block.

Sewer Completed.

Alderman W. H. Cocking announced that the Johnson street sewer has been completed, and that it is now ready to receive waste matter from the Cohen and Swift plants. A special committee, consisting of the water committee and the city engineer was appointed to draw up a contract to submit to these two concerns under which they will be permitted to dump their waste matter into the sewer mains.

Alderman Cocking said that the public square will not be marked until after the state highway department gets a ruling from the attorney general on a recent bit of legislation. The law states that there will be no parking, other than parallel, along a state highway, and until it is determined whether the state highway extends from curb to curb on the public square, or whether the highway is only 30 feet wide, is the point to be decided.

Alderman Ralph Green asked that parking be permitted on only one side of North Sandy street, in order to give the fire department quick access to the square. He proposed to stop parking on the east side of the street, but this matter was left open until the city attorney brings in a resolution at the next meeting, at which time the side of the street to be closed to parking will be determined.

That brought a complaint from Alderman Ray Harmon, who insisted that the police department should do something to stop parking in the alleys.

Alderman George Brown complained about the street crossing at North Main and the Wabash tracks, and it was agreed to call in the city engineer to relate what progress has been made in the city's effort to obtain better facilities at railroad crossings. The alderman also requested the city attorney to bring in a suggested form for publication of the city's financial condition.

Special Counsel C. Ray Gruny was given authority to take options on land which might be used in the construction of a new lake, with the understanding that he would spend no money in taking the options, and that they might be taken from property on all three of the proposed sites.

To Sign Contract.

The council also authorized the mayor and city clerk to sign a contract with the Maple Crest sanitarium to provide the institution with fire protection when its equipment was not fighting fires elsewhere in the city limits. The contract is to call for an initial expense of $50 for each run, and $25 for each additional hour after the first that the department has to fight a fire on the premises there.

Two letters, one of them signed by Henry W. English, owner, and Mrs. Lucille English, manager, of the Stout Coal company, asked the city not to close the North Sandy street crossing at the Wabash tracks because its property is located on one side of the tracks and the scales and business office is located on the other.

The city clerk also read a number of reports, one of which stated that the city's share of the October Motor Fuel tax was $2,773.39. The Travelers Insurance company reported the boiler in the heating plant at the city hall in good condition, and the state health department stated that the water now being pumped into the mains is safe for consumption.

C. C. Rhodes, plumbing inspector, collected $85 in fees during the past month, and the city clerk reported his collections as $779.25. The water department, collection division, took in $7,260.14 during the past month, and sold water valued at $7,050.84.

The budget report for the first 11 months of the year is as follows:

Mound Builders Of Lewistown to Be Subject of Movie

Famous Dickson Mound Is Used As Background For New Film

Many citizens of this community who have visited the famous Dixon Mound Builders' tomb south of Lewistown will be interested to learn that a moving picture entitled "The Story of the Grave," depicting activities of people who lived in this part of the country a thousand years ago, is nearing completion.

The graves of these people comprise the Indian mounds which were discovered about 10 years ago and which have been viewed by 250,000 persons.

The film story was written by Jack W. Worth, motion picture producer, author and historian. It is based on facts gathered from the graves at Lewistown. Living characters are used to portray every phase of the life of the mound builders, as it is assumed from their graves.

The film tells the story of the burial of a mother, father and babe, whose simultaneous heath was the result of some unknown epidemic. The film tells the story of their being laid out in the council house of the tribe, where the saddened relatives laid the bodies of the father and mother, side by side, and between them, the body of the babe. The faces of the parents were turned toward each other and the babe. These people of long ago respected the family relationship just as is done today.

To the mothers wrist they fastened her string of beads and at the right shoulder of the husband they placed his arrows and on the breast of the babe they placed its prized possession, a small shell ornament. At the right of them was placed a pottery utensil with a spoon of mussel shell. All their useful possessions and ornaments accompanied them into their next world. One thousand years later they are still found with them in the grave.

From the council house the funeral procession, led by the chief priest and medicine man, sets forth to the adjacent hill where they buried their dead. The bodies, wrapped in skins, are laid upon the ground, and soil from out of the lake is carried up the hill to cover them. The priest prays to the Great Spirit as the bodies are consigned to the soil.

That is the story the film tells, gathered from the mute evidence of the grave.

When Thomas M. Dickson discovered the skeletons of an ancient people buried in a common grave on his premises he was curious to know more of them. About ten years ago, he and his son, Dr. Don F. Dickson, commenced their tedious and systematic research activities into the grave or "mound." They worked and preserved, uncovered skeleton after skeleton until 238 had been completely exposed. All of these bodies were carefully uncovered and allowed to remain in the very same position in which they were buried. A building was erected over them and became known as "Dickson Mound."

Four Bridge Queens Hold Crown

Contract bridge players at the tenth annual national tournament of the American Bridge League in Chicago got their second surprise when these four women successfully defended their title as the national champion women's team of four. A year ago, never having met around a bridge table before, they made up a team and won the crown! Living thousands of miles apart, they had no opportunity to meet since then. The four are, left to right: Helen White of Los Angeles, Florence Stratford of Cleveland, Mrs. L. G. Quigley of Chicago, and Mrs. Robert B. Fuller of New York.

Hold Local Man In Springfield On Robbery Charges

Arrest James Ball Here For Part in Holdups In Sangamon

James Ball of this city was arrested by local and Springfield police yesterday morning and taken to Springfield where he faces charges of robbery with a gun. Ball, it is said, has been identified as the driver for an armed gunman who early Wednesday night held up and robbed two Springfield gasoline station attendants of approximately $50.

Ball was identified by Gerald Clem, 908 South Spring street, attendant at the Sinclair station at 1000 South Spring street, and Francis Sutter, 1517 South State street, attendant at the Shell station at State and Laurel streets in Springfield.

Both men told police that they were certain of the identification. Two warrants charging robbery with a gun were issued against Ball by Police Magistrate Jean Saner. Bond was set at $5,000 on each count.

The Jacksonville man was arrested about 6 a. m. in Jacksonville by six Springfield policemen, accompanied Thursday by Jacksonville officers. The arresting officers were Detectives.

Ball admitted that he had been released from the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Chester on May 6 after serving an eight-year term for burglary and larceny, police said. Ball was arrested and sentenced from Cass county.

He denied to officers that he had any part in the robbery, declaring that he was in Jacksonville at the time the holdup occurred.

The holdups Wednesday night occurred about 6 p. m. and within a period of a few minutes, according to police. Police were furnished with descriptions of both the gunman and the driver.

Local Teachers To Attend Meeting Of State Association

Illinois Educational Ass'n. Will Open Sessions At Springfield Dec. 28

School teachers of Morgan county will no more attend midwinter meetings of the Illinois State Teachers' association. Instead, they will make the holiday pilgrimage to Springfield this year to meet with the Illinois Educational association.

The new name for the association was adopted last year after it was pointed out that the old name was misleading. Members assert that they are striving to improve education as a whole, not merely the interests of the teachers.

The annual meeting of the association will be held at Springfield Dec. 28-30 and as usual Morgan county will be well represented.

A number of prominent speakers, both inside and outside educational organizations, will appear on the various general session programs. Among them are Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the People's church of Chicago for the last 25 years; Matthew J. Murphy, Chicago, department commander of the American Legion; Victor A. Olander, representing the Illinois State Federation of Labor; Senator L. O. Williams, Clinton; Dr. C. W. Judd, University of Chicago, and William J. Lowery, city superintendent of Springfield schools.

The annual state spelling contest for county winners will be held Monday, Dec. 28, in the state senate chambers, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

Speakers at the first general session to be held Monday night, Dec. 28, will be Frank A. Jensen, LaSalle, president of the association, on "The Illinois Educational Association." Dr. Preston Bradley will speak on "Facing the Future."

Arrangements also have been completed for the separate meetings of the various organizations and sections.

Mrs. Gregory Entertains History Class Members

Mrs. A. R. Gregory, 551 South Main street delightfully entertained the members of History class, Wednesday class and Sororsis at her home Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. H. C. Jaquith as the guest speaker, who interestingly told of Christmas in Old Russia.

Mrs. Jaquith told of the rituals and the customs, which always can be traced back to very early times. In her native country the season was gay with visiting, family gatherings, where games, fortune telling, dances and folk songs were enjoyed. She described the lenten period with the seven weeks of fasting, and the day before Christmas as a day of great anticipation, with the breaking of the fast following Christmas eve. No particular gifts were presented on Christmas, but on the sixth of January, the Epiphany was celebrated with the main service, the blessing of the waters, with a beautiful procession from the churches.

Mrs. Jaquith's remarks were interwoven with humorous descriptions and stories of the people of Russia.

Mrs. B. S. Gailey, president of History class, graciously opened the meeting, giving a very fine review of the subjects studied by the society, since the beginning of the year, before presenting Mrs. Jaquith.

Following the program tea was served in the dining room. Mrs. Jaquith and Mrs. Gailey presided at the table, which was beautiful in its appointments carrying out the Russian theme.

Current Events Symposium Held At BPWC Meet

Discuss Social Security, Art Books and Theaters Last Night

"A Current Events Symposium" was held at the meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's club, Thursday evening at the Peacock Inn, with issues of the day discussed by several of the members of the organization presenting facts concerning the social security laws, art, new books and the theatre, also the white collar workers, as a group.

Miss Hester Burbridge opened the meeting following the supper, which was served at 6:15 o'clock, then presented the program chairman, Mrs. Fanita Weir Brockhouse, who presided during the program, calling upon the district chairman, Mrs. Mae Raffety, of Carrollton as the first speaker to present the main issues of the social securitiy laws. Mrs. Raffety reviewed the period in industry when the individual could provide a living by his own efforts, in a country which was expanding, a time before 1890. "At present," she said "it is impossible to do this, for the nation cannot expand, and in the industrial world machines have replaced hundreds of men and women, who now through no fault of their own are without work and funds for a living. Often there is work at certain periods, as in automobile factories, but it is not steady and the new security insurance is designed to tide over the slumps of unemployment.

Mrs. Alice W. Applebee brought to the club a brief resume of the productions available in the realm of the theatre, music, lectures and new books, saying that even art lovers in a small town within close proximity to the larger cities, such as St. Louis, Springfield and even Chicago could always enjoy the best. Among the theatre attractions in St. Louis for coming events will be, "Pride and Prejudice," "Idiots Delight" and later in the season, interesting plays at the Thatre Guilds. "Call It a Day" will be in Chicago, giving the life of a family's everyday experiences. The St. Louis symphony and Ruth Slenczynski, phenomenal 12-year-old pianist are on the schedule of events for December. Jacksonville also presents this season Harold Bauer, pianist, Ernst Wolff, baritone and the Stradivarius quartet, Doris Humphrey and group of dancers, while in April the Institute of Human Relations will be held at MacMurray college. In closing Mrs. Applebee gave a short review of books which were clever in their particular field, "Harvard Has a Homicide," "Influence of Women and Its Cure" by John Erskine and its answer, "The Influence of Men—Incurable," by Eudora Ramsay, national officer in the Business and Professional Woman's club.

Miss Charlotte Ryan in her remarks answered the question, "What determines the white collar group?" Evidently something other than wearing a white collar. Membership is according to the kind of work done rather than by the kind of clothes worn. They are the clerical workers, assistants to the executives. They tend the office work, type the letters, keep the records and accounts and answer the telephone.

"According to the 1930 census there were eight millions white collar workers in 1930. Six out of every 10 were men and four out of every ten were women. The importance of the white collar worker is evident by the fact that in 1930 almost one worker in every six was in this group. During the sixty years from 1870 to 1930 it increased seven and one half million or over 2000 percent.

"The New York 'Journal of Commerce' says that no group of workers is more helpless in an economic emergency, but no group seems so little disposed to bring its troubles to the attention of the public. There are organizations of the white collar workers in large eastern cities, the Office Workers association and the Associated Office and Professional Emergency Employees in New York city. They are intelligent, have vitality and courage, although numerically small.

Group singing was enjoyed during the meeting and a piano number "1st Movement of Mozart's Concerto in C Minor No. 24" by Mrs. Lois Watt Eckman, was also a feature of the program.

YES, THIS FOOD ENDS YOUR CONSTIPATION

Look out for those half-sick days, when you feel listless, headachy, out-of-sorts. Your trouble may be constipation. The real cause of common constipation is too little "bulk" in meals. Your system misses its regular exercise.

Get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system.

Why keep on feeling bad when you can feel good? Millions of people use ALL-BRAN. Tests prove it's safe and effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Remember, ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly you'd rather eat a food than take pills and drugs. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

No Money on Hand To Pay Sales Tax Refunds, Is Report

State Department Warns Heads of Business to Proceed Cautiously

S. L. Nudelman, assistant state director of finance, notified business men yesterday that the attention of the finance department had been called to the fact that certain individuals and organizations are contacting persons who have paid retailers' occupation tax in error, representing that for a consideration they will obtain refunds of such taxes.

"Section 6 of the Retailers' Occupation Tax Act specifically requires the Department of Finance to issue a credit or make a refund of any taxes which have been paid as a result of a mistake of fact or an error of law," Nudelman said. "The Department has prescribed a simple procedure, under which such persons may file claims on official forms and send them to the offices of the department in Springfield or at 208 West Washington street, Chicago.

"It is not necessary for any taxpayer to employ counsel or joint any organization in order to file a claim or obtain a credit or refund of any taxes which have been paid by him in error.

"In view of recent decisions of the Illinois Supreme Court, a large number of persons in several trades and occupations who have been paying tax were exempted. There is now no adequate appropriation out of which those refunds can be made to all such persons. Refunds will be made by the department to all claimants if and when the legislature makes an appropriation sufficient for this purpose."

Photographers Exempted

The state Department of Finance issued the following revised regulation defining the liability of commercial and portrait photographers under the Retailers' Occupational Tax:

"Portrait or commercial photographers, who, on order of customers, produce portraits or pictures are not engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property but are engaged in the rendering of service. Portrait or commercial photographers therefore are not liable for Retailers' Occupation Tax with respect to receipts from such services.

"Vendors of sensitized photographic paper, chemicals, cameras, and other tangible personal property to portrait or commercial photographers for use in rendering photographic services make sales at retail and are liable for the tax with respect to their receipts therefrom.

"Photographers become liable for the tax with respect to sales of pictures or portraits having commercial value, whether produced by them or not, and are likewise liable for tax with respect to sales of picture frames, camera films, or any other articles of tangible personal property for use or consumption."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TORCH OF HIGH IDEALS

Ray King, left, captain-elect of Minnesota's 1937 football team, has a lot to live up to if he carries the Gophers' torch as high as did Ed Widseth, All-America tackle and retiring captain, right, this year. The torch, emblematic of the Minnesota captaincy, is being passed in front of Andy Uram, halfback and alternate captain of next season's squad.

Highways in State Are Reported Good

Showers May Change Dirt Road Conditions, Club Bulletin Says

The Jacksonville Auto club reports all highways in Illinois are in excellent condition at the present time but with showers throughout the state roads are apt to become bad in places.

Construction is still in progress on the Lincoln Trail through Salisbury to New Salem State Park and Petersburg but no information is obtainable on the probable date of completion or opening of the road.

Two bridges which have been opened to traffic just recently are the bridge on US-36 across the Mississippi River at Hannibal and at Meredosia on 111-104 spanning the Illinois River. Prior to the opening of these two bridges traffic was using the railroad bridges.

On the route to Florida via Evansville, Nashville and Birmingham some construction will be encountered south of Birmingham, but this does not interfere with traffic to any great extent. This route is also used to Mobile, Alabama and gulf ports in eastern Mississippi to avoid gravel roads through most of Mississippi.

Amarillo, Texas is approximately 950 miles from Jacksonville via. U. S. 36 and following U. S. 66 and only one detour will be encountered which may cause trouble in wet weather. This is just west of Jericho, Texas and has four miles of unimproved road.

Brownsville and other cities in the Rio Grande Valley may be reached over a choice of two routes, both of which are almost entirely paved. One is through Springfield and Joplin, Mo.; Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla., and thence through Dallas or Fort Worth. The other is via Cape Girardeau, West Memphis, Little Rock, Texarkana and thence through Houston or San Antonio. During the later winter months less snow may be encountered through Arkansas than through Missouri and Oklahoma.

A Small Boy's Lament

By Helen Welshimer

MY dog brings guests
His rubber ball,
When he is glad
They've come to call.
My mother always
Lets folks see
She's pleased they came
By serving tea.
I can't give presents
So, instead,
I have to let them
Pat my head!

The regular meeting of the local American Legion Auxiliary was held at the American Legion Home Wednesday evening with a large attendance.

Discussion in regard to plans for Christmas took up most of the evening. It was decided to take care of 119 needy children of ex-service men and in cooperation with the local Legion to help with a treat for the veterans at the local hospital and the war nurses at Norbury's Sanitorium.

Mrs. Irma Williamson, child welfare chairman, urged that every member make an effort to bring or send to the next Auxiliary meeting some toys, books, pencils or something to put in the Christmas box to be sent to Bell Cottage at Normal, Illinois.

Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Henry Holler.

¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons parsley, finely chopped

Let diced potatoes soak in cold water 1 hour. Dry thoroughly and fry in hot Spry (380° F.) 1-inch deep in heavy frying pan until potatoes float and are golden brown (about 5 minutes). Drain on absorbent paper. Remember, no smoke or unpleasant odor when you fry with Spry. Cook onion in 1½ tablespoons Spry in skillet for 3 minutes. Remove onion and add pimientos. Add fried potato cubes and salt and stir carefully, mixing well. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 6 portions. Serve often—Spry-fried potatoes are as digestible as if baked.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

MILLIONS of years ago, a fern-like plant, known now as the Cycad, was the outstanding plant of the entire earth. Then, layer after layer of sediment was laid down over these trees. Some were buried to a depth of more than 30 miles. But the earth's surface buckled and eroded, and these long-hidden, now-fossilized cycad "cones" were exposed for modern man to see.

Wheat Climbs To New High Peak

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Recovering sharply more than two cents following an interval of weakness, wheat climbed late today to peak prices not reached before in six years. Rye also outdid record top quotations, December rye selling at $1.00 a bushel for the first time since 1929.

The new upturns of breadstuff values took place after estimates were current that probable wheat needs of importing countries this season would be more than 50,000,000 bushels larger than last season. It was also noticeable that future delivery offerings of wheat and rye had become decidedly scarce after declines of prices, and that would-be purchasers were forced to bid quotations up in order to consummate dealings.

Transient weakness of wheat here came about largely because of more than three cents break in the Liverpool market, where action of Argentina discontinuing government guaranteed minimum prices was construed as bearish.

Chicago wheat futures closed firm, ¾-1¼ cents over yesterday's finish, Dec. 125¼-¾, May 120¾-121, July 108¼-¼, corn unchanged to ¼ lower, Dec. 107¼-¾, May new 102¾-¾, July new 98¼-¾, oats ¼ off to ¼ up, May 46, and rye showing 1¼-1½ bulge, May 95¼. The provisions outcome was unchanged to 7 cents advance.

Industrial Stocks Attain Recoveries

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The trading picture brightened in today's stock market and recent gloomy industrial leaders stepped up 1 to 4 points at their best.

There was little momentum on the come-back, however, and late selling generally halved peak gains.

A mild revival of business optimism, brokers said, was mainly responsible for the resumption of buying.

Foreign happenings held much of Wall Street's attention, specially the British constitutional crisis involved in the controversy over the king's reported marriage plans.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks retained a gain of .2 of a point at 70.7 against a loss yesterday of .6. Transfers totalled 2,038,950 shares compared with 2,319,300 Wednesday.

Boardrooms took a belated look at the steels when it was realized mills are now operating at the top figure of the year with signs of further inroads on capacity. This group was one of the liveliest of the session.

Conspicuous on the upside were American Car & Foundry at 54¾, American Steel Founders 60¾, American Locomotive 43¼, Pullman 62¾, Westinghouse Airbrake 46, U. S. Steel 75¾, Republic Steel 26¾, Wilson Co. 9, Vanadium 25¾, Anaconda 48¾, International Nickel 61¼, Montgomery Ward 65¾, Woolworth 67¼, Boeing 35¾, General American Transport 73, Du Pont 181¾, Owens-Illinois 159¾, Union Bag & Paper 63¼, International Paper & Power Preferred 92, Armour 6, and Poor & Co. 26¾.

Chrysler and General Motors kept advances of major fractions. Active and slightly higher were Paramount, R-K-O, North American Aviation, Curtiss-Wright "A" and Superior Oil.

Securities markets in London and Paris were nervous. European currencies gave ground moderately in terms of the dollar.

Farm and Rural Interest

Andras And Sons Cattle, Peak And Sons Horses Capture Show Prizes; Crum Resigns as Cass Farm Oil Head; Ideal Horse Measured, Found To Be Medium Size

J. C. Andras and Sons of Manchester had five winners as judging neared a finish in the breeding Hereford cattle classes at the Interntional Livestock Exposition at Chicago. The Andras entries took third on a group of two bulls, bred and owned by the exhibitor; fourth on cow calved between May 1, 1933, and April 30, 1934; fifth on heifer calved between May 1, 1934 and Dec. 31, 1934; third on heifer calved between May 1, 1935, and August 31, 1935, and third on a pair of yearlings.

J. Garrett Tolan, Pleasant Plains, had three winners in the finals of the breeding Aberdeen Angus classes when he took first on a group of four animals the get of one sire; third on graded herd and seventh on pair of calves bred and owned by the exhibitor.

Peak Horses Continue To Score at Chicago

George J. Peak and Sons, Winchester and the Richmond stables of Taylorville were listed among the winners at the second matinee program of Chicago's national horse show.

Bengal Lancer and Susan McGregor, owned respectively by Peak and Sons, and Mrs. H. K. Hurwith of Wilmette, Ill., took the first premium in trotting pairs shown to road wagons. Grand Larceny and Boga Rica from the Peak farm won fourth place in the same class.

Flash and Flame from the Richmond stables, Taylorville, took fifth place in the class for harness ponies.

Cary Andras Has Plenty To Keep Him Busy at Show

One of the busiest young men at the International Livestock show during the past week has been Cary Andras of Manchester. When we talked to him Wednesday he called our attention to the crowded conditions with which the exhibitors had to contend. The truth of the matter is that the International is bigger than ever this year and the management has been hard pressed to accomodate the number of entrants.

Four-H Club Parade An Inspiring Sight

Tuesday night's program included a parade of the 4-H club boys and girls. Over fifteen hundred of these enthusiastic youngsters, from 44 states of the Union and some provinces of Canada, filled the big Horse Show arena. The kids were furnished with distinctive and attractive white and green stocking caps with the 4-H emblem thereon.

George Peak Expresses Satisfaction at Show

It was also our pleasure to contact that king of showmen and horseman par excellence, George Peak. Mr. Peak appeared well satisfied with the way his horse show entries have been received and treated by the judges. He has been getting his usual share of the prize money despite the high class of International competition with which he is faced.

Mark Peak, who was with Milky Way stables for several years, is back with his father and like Ralph is a distinct asset to the firm. Mrs. Mark Peak drove one of the winners in the roadster class Tuesday night.

Shepherd Dogs Get Big Hand for Performance

The exhibition of handling a flock of sheep given each evening by two Shepherd sheep dogs holds the interest of the crowd. The dogs always get a big hand after their work.

A. E. Crum Resigns As Cass Oil Firm Head

A. E. Crum, for nine and one-half years president of the Cass County Farmers' Oil company, with headquarters at Virginia, has resigned because of other duties and Herbert Pilger has been chosen to take his place. William H. Witte, Jr., replaces J. Hy Kuhlmann as vice president, and William R. Campbell has been elected as a new member of the board. The other members are T. L. Barber and Oliver G. Meyer.

Winter Wheat Acreage Sets Record Says U.S.

Winter wheat plantings "undoubtedly the largest in the history of the country" were reported Tuesday by the Bureau of Agricultural economics, at Washington. The heavy seedings were made after the drought shortened this year's grain production.

In a survey of world conditions, the economics bureau forecast that world and domestic wheat prices will remain at high levels throughout the winter.

Ohio Farmer Wins With Hybrid Corn at Show

C. A. Kenworthy of Greenfield, O., was named the "Duke of Hybrid Corn" at the International Livestock and Grain shows Wednesday when his sample of shelled Indiana 614 hybrid was awarded the championship among 92 entries in this class.

The reserve championship went to John M. Grathmohl, of Fairmont, Minn. He showed a sample of Minnesota No. 301.

There were 92 samples of hybrid submitted from ten states, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and New York.

The samples were subjected to a germination test which counted in the judging.

This new corn, which does not look different from the usual corn belt product, has gained widespread favor in the last six or seven years.

"Duke" Kenworthy is another of the "degree" farmers who have been walking away with the exposition championships. He is a graduate of Purdue and the corn with which he won was developed at the Lafayette institution.

Ideal Horse is Measured; Found to Be Medium Size

When hundreds of farmers were asked to lead out their best horse and to describe his qualities, the Horse and Mule Association of America secured a good idea of the farmers ideal, said Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the association, in his annual report made in Chicago Wednesday.

"A good fast walk, alertness and ability to endure hard work in the heat," are most desired of all qualities, Mr. Dinsmore reported.

The majority of farmers appear to prefer work horses and mules that are of medium size, thick mane, with good underpinning, rather than the largest animals. They want work stock that measures 15 hands (60 inches) to 16 hands (64 inches) and have a heart girth of 78 to 83 inches.

To get these facts about horse preference, a trained horseman was sent on a trip into a dozen states, including Illinois, making stops at many farms, asking the farmers to show their best horses and describe the qualities most preferred.

Many farmers had horses that suited them exactly and in each such mase the animal was led out and measured.

A total of 243 work horses and 53 work mules were measured and checked. The horses averaged 62.25 inches in height, had a girth of 80 inches and body length of 40.48 inches. The chest was 33 inches from the ground.

Seventy percent of the horses considered by their owners as ideal measured 60 to 64 inches in height. Mules averaged 62.8 inches in height at the withers.

The ideal mule was almost an inch longer in the legs than the ideal horse, about two inches less in heart girth, but had an average height and length virtually the same as the ideal horse.

Cattle Wintered on Silage Require Added Protein

With more silage in Illinois this year than ever before, the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois points out that cattle or sheep living upon silage need some additional protein.

For cattle one pound a day of such feed as cottonseed meal has proved satisfactory. If the cattle are to be fattened, twice as much of the protein feed may be used along with some additional grain.

Silage is suitable for any cattle and any sheep or lambs. Hogs do not care much for it except for the corn it may contain. There is danger of killing horses because of damaged silage which may be fed to them.

Grinding roughage does not pay, it has been found by farmers and by tests made by the agricultural college. One Illinois cattle feeder who had been enthusiastic about grinding shock corn has now put up two siles and dug one 150-foot trench silo and filled them all. Tests show that the net income an acre from ground shock corn is less than the income from shock corn fed whole, while both of these give less net income than silage.

Animals getting stalk fields, shocked corn, husked corn fodder or straw also need additional protein. A good plan is to feed them a small amount of legume hay each evening.

Realizing that with high priced feed, farmers will desire to fatten cattle by substituting low-priced feed wherever possible, the agricultural college authorities say that grain rations for fattening cattle may be cheapened in some localities by substituting some oats or wheat for part of the corn if prices are favorable. A ration of one-third corn, one-third oats and one-third wheat has been found satisfactory.

Ground ear corn does very well for fattening cattle during the early part of the feeding period, but gains are faster and fat is put on more rapidly if the cobs are discarded and some oats are used to supply additional bulk to the ration.

Common-to-medium cattle which are being fattened for the spring market need very little grain in addition to silage, legume hay and high protein feed until they are about half fat. Corn or other grain suitably balanced with protein feed during the last 60 days adds much to the finish and selling price.

Choice cattle and calves may gain flesh with comparatively little grain until they are about half fat, but they need several months of full feeding on a suitably balanced grain ration to make them really fat.

In general a mixture of one part of such a feed as soybean oil meal to seven to nine parts of corn for calves or nine to 12 parts of corn for older cattle makes a suitably balanced ration especially if some legume hay is fed.

Hogs Gain, Then Lose in Trading

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The hog market advanced 10 to 15 cents in brisk trading early today, but later much of this upturn was lost after packers had filled requirements.

The early top rose to a two months peak of $10.25, but in late dealings the best price was $10.10. Packers now are paying the highest December prices for hogs in 10 years, excepting last year when the processing tax was included in the cost.

Livestock men attributed the early advance partly to the continued decline in receipts.

Demand for cattle broadened when receipts fell below trade requirements and all grades were wanted at strong prices which represented new peak levels for the current crop. While the commercial market was overshadowed by the sale of stock show prize winners, packers cleaned up offerings in the regular trade quickly. Weighty steers topped at $12.35 in the absence of prime yearlings.

Fat lambs were mostly steady. Top was $8.75.

Wholesale meat prices showed little change.

Detroit Bride Has Surprise Marriage For Shower Guests

Wedding Party Appears in Midst of Shower for Marriage Ceremony

Milton—Guests at a pre-nuptial shower at the home of Mrs. Carlos Stilwell, of Detroit, were alternately taken off their feet, and then delighted Saturday afternoon at 3:15, when Miss Marjorie Sanderson, in whose honor the party was being given, Robert McAlister, the bridegroom, and their wedding party appeared in the midst of about 100 guests and were married in a surprise ceremony.

Miss Sanderson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sanderson of Detroit, appeared for the shower and graciously filled her duties of the guest of honor. She unobtrusively left the party for a short time, while Mrs. Gene Sanderson and Mrs. Stilwell sang two numbers, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told." As Mrs. Sanderson began playing the Wedding March from Lohengrin, by Wagner, the bridal party and the Rev. Reece Potor, appeared in the room.

The bride wore a lovely white gown with veil, and had a bridal boquet of pink rosebuds. Her maid of honor, Miss Mavis Burton, wore a dress of floor length pink moire and carried a boquet of white roses.

The bridal party marched through the surprised gathering to the dining room, where the minister read the single ring wedding service. Joe Plummer served as the best man.

The wedding was a complete surprise, and was carried out with the cooperation of the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. George Sanderson, Mrs. Leland Williams, Mrs. Betty Seibert, all of Detroit, and Mrs. Maude Neese and Mrs. Flo Johnson of Milton.

Following the ceremony, lovely refreshments were served.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Laura McAllister of Pittsfield.

GLASGOW BAPTISTS TO HAVE BAPTISM SERVICE ON SUNDAY

Glasgow.—Baptismal rites will be held at Glasgow Sunday, with Rev. Garfield Rodgers of Jacksonville, pastor of the local Baptist church, administering the ordinance of baptism to those converted at the recent revival meetings in that church.

The services will be conducted in one of the nearby creeks, but the exact location and time has not yet been announced.

Regular preaching services will also be conducted by the pastor Sunday morning and evening, with a business meeting being called for Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members, finding it possible, are requested to attend.

Small Fire

Upon going home to supper Tuesday evening, Edward Cumby, local merchant, on entering the house discovered a small blaze in the joists around the flue in the front part of the house. Not wishing to excite his wife, who was at the store, he quietly returned there and summoned Conrad Fundel and William Killebrew, who returned with him and soon extinguished the conflagration. Only a small hole was burned in the ceiling of the room by the fire, which had started from an overheated flue.

The members of the local Community Christian church will hold a bake sale in the M. E. & J. A. Higgins store in Winchester Saturday, Dec. 5.
